

People on the move

Wed, Sep 17

detroitnews.com

Hospitality

Denise Froehlich joins CSM Lodging, a division of CSM Corporation, as director of sales for Sterling Heights TownePlace Suites by Marriott. Froehlich has more than 20 years in hotel sales at resort and corporate properties. Her responsibilities include to continue to drive revenue, maximize profit and ensure quality for guests and visitors of Sterling Heights TownePlace Suites.

Design

Sally Erickson Wilson has been appointed as associate professor and chair of The College for Creative Studies new Master of Fine Arts degree program in Color and Materials Design. Prior to joining the College, Erickson Wilson was design manager at Johnson Controls.

Erickson Wilson will be responsible for the oversight and evolution of the graduate curriculum and will educate students to develop an “eye” for color differentiation, materials craftsmanship and quality assessment.

e-commerce

Canton’s RepairClinic.com, the online store for replacement parts and free how-to repair help for home appliances, outdoor power equipment and heating and cooling equipment, has been named by Internet Retailer magazine one of the web’s top 500 leading mobile

e-commerce websites.

“We’re honored to be listed among hundreds of respected and popular e-commerce companies,” said Chris Hall, president and co-founder of RepairClinic.

Philanthropy

Peggy Burns of the University of Michigan’s College of Literature, Sciences and the Arts has been selected as the new senior vice president of philanthropy for Henry Ford Health System. She joins Henry Ford on Nov. 3.

Burns, 54, currently serves as Assistant Dean for the college.

Law

Nicholas J. Wittner recently joined national law firm Dykema’s product liability practice as Of Counsel in the company’s Bloomfield Hills office. Prior to joining Dykema, Wittner served as assistant general counsel for Nissan North America, where he was head of the legal department’s product group. He also previously served as executive attorney at General Motors.

Wittner has more than 30 years of experience managing product liability litigation, product-related class actions, and safety and environmental regulatory compliance matters.

Human resources

ASG Renaissance, a technical staffing and marketing communications services firm has been selected as one of “Metropolitan Detroit’s 101 Best and Brightest Companies to Work For” by the Michigan Business and Professional

Association. This is the 11th time the company has received the honor since the award’s inception in 2001.

“We are honored to be recognized for our human resources initiatives that clearly demonstrate the value we place on our employee’s contributions to the company and our clients,” said Lizabeth Ardisana, ASG Renaissance CEO and principal owner.